

Student Forecasting Tournament

Bring Decision Education to your High School Classroom with Forecasting—and Win Cash Prizes!

The Student Forecasting Tournament is an exciting, gamified learning opportunity for high school students to discover how to make predictions about future events and improve their decision-making skills.

In this online tournament, students work together in teams of four to submit their own forecasts to various questions about current, real-world events.

After ten weeks, the teams with the most correct predictions and the highest level of accuracy win cash prizes!
