We put the SMART into international tuition payments

The good news is we are not a bank. Our mission is to save you time and money.

MTFX is a disruptor in the global payments industry.

At MTFX we change money from one currency to another. There's more to it than that but we like to keep things simple. PayMyTuition, our solution for educational institutions is an easy-to-use, safe and seamless solution that allows international students to settle payments in their home currency, while enjoying low exchange rates, convenient payment tracking options and exemplary multilingual customer support.

A global footprint built over two decades

Our 20+ years of experience in the foreign exchange and global payments industry allows us to offer the global infrastructure, the resources and the capacity to support international students from virtually any country in any currency.

Confirmed lowest pricing option for students

We strongly believe that students shouldn't have to pay for the privilege of transferring their money. To reinforce this, we offer all students free transfers, with no commissions or hidden charges. Compare our currency exchange rates and we'll prove it to you.

A Fintech market leader

Founded in 1996, MTFX remains one of the first independent foreign exchange and global payments companies outside of the banking world to focus on simplifying international transfers. Our blend of high-tech high-touch solutions span virtually every business category across multiple industry segments. In the educational institution industry we continue to drive change through disruptive technology solutions that protect students from inflated retail exchange rates while providing educational institutions with technology solutions that eliminate administration and speed up payment processing.

We lead the market

Today, MTFX is one of the largest independent foreign exchange providers in Canada and the U.S. and is trusted and recommended by thousands worldwide. In a recent survey 97% of our customers said they would recommend us to a friend, that's not only because we're fair and friendly but because we save them lots of money!

Rates that get results

Because foreign exchange and international payments are all we do, we can offer rates that banks and other financial institutions find hard to beat. Technological efficiencies, real-time market rates and large transactional volumes allow us to provide exchange rates at much lower rates than most of our competitors. We're so confident in our rates that we offer a price-match guarantee on any transfer we do. Compare our rates to those offered by your current provider - you'll be glad you did.

Outstanding levels multi-lingual customer service

Besides saving students money, we focus and work on ensuring that every student experience is exceptional. When students call us they always speak directly with one of our multi-lingual foreign exchange specialists who are trained to provide straightforward, jargon-free service.

Offering the best possible rate is only part of what we do. We know that the payment process is crucial to any transaction. Students are able to track payments through online payment tracking dashboards, SMS alerts and email notifications.
