Glee Club Auditions Prospective Singers In Annual Tryouts

The annual Glee Club auditions began Monday night as juniors and seniors trying out were required to sing the chorus of "Lord Jeffrey Amherst" individually. This year candidates for either first or second bass were also asked to sing the line "Rocked in the cradle of the deep," to test their range of voice. From this group will be chosen a smaller one for second auditions between Thanksgiving and Christmas; approximately 45 singers will be selected from these final auditions to join the 39 seniors returning from last year.

The Glee Club, led by President Gib Sutor, performs on Spring Day and at Commencement and travels to the Bushnell Auditorium in Hartford for an annual concert with Choate, Hotchkiss, Loomis, and Taft. This year the club will also participate in a concert at Worcester for a group of Deerfield alumni.

Plans Well-Rounded Program

The club hopes to try numbers which will interest all music lovers. For those who like classical selections, several pieces by Bach are being considered. Moreover, the club is planning to sing a variety of faster numbers, among which are "Joshua Fit the Battle of Jericho" and "The Last Words of David."

Mr. Russ A. Miller

Mr. Miller Gets CACAC Post

Mr. Miller has recently been appointed to the College Admissions Center Advisory Committee, a group of representatives from various secondary schools across the country who work with and advise the College Admissions Center. The Center is a clearing-house for students who have not been accepted at college. These students send their credentials to Evanston, Illinois, where the Center has its headquarters, and their records are then submitted to colleges which are seeking to fill vacancies.

Founded In 1958

The Center, a non-profit organization, was founded in 1958. There are now over 1700 affiliated schools and colleges; 5200 students applied for help last year. The advisory committee meets twice a year, the next meeting being in Toledo, Ohio, next January. Of the 11 members on the committee, Mr. Miller is the only representative from a private secondary school.

Second Floor Of New Gymnasium Opens; Provides Additional Space For Basketball

The upper floor of the addition to the Gym was opened to the student body, November 19. Its two parallel basketball courts have tripled the space available for boys to practice simultaneously. Construction of the new Gymnasium was begun in September, 1962, by Ernest F. Carlson, Inc., of Springfield and was completed with only a slight delay.

Gym Has Modern Conveniences

The recently-completed Gym contains several features lacking in the old one. Among these are folding bleachers which have eliminated bleacher duty — much to the delight of the students. Also included are such fixtures as mercury vapor lights, a public-address system, acoustic boards to limit noise, and a lobby.

Since the beginning of school this fall, the student body has occupied the ground floor of the addition. This area contains a stock room, an athletic supply store, a drying system which allows teams to practice in the rain, and four locker rooms — one sub-varsity, one varsity, and two for visiting teams.

1963 Pocumtuck Attains Columbia Medalist Rating

The Columbia Scholastic Press Association recently awarded the 1963 Pocumtuck a Medalist rating for yearbook excellence. Out of a possible 1000 points, the yearbook received 943, enough to earn the association's highest honor. Sponsored by Columbia University, the organization stated that the rating "is based on intangible qualities that become evident to the judges and which could be characterized as the personality of the entry."

Besides Columbia, the Pocumtuck is also rated by the National School Yearbook Association and the National Scholastic Press Association. From all three organizations the yearbook earned high honors in athletic coverage and printing.

Enlarges Trainer's, Skiers' Area

One of the important results of this addition was the fact that the area vacated in the old building could be used for other activities which had lacked ample space before. Skiing now has a large room for storage and for sale of equipment. The trainer, too, has more room in which to take care of boys' numerous aches and bruises.

Before the addition was built one of the main problems facing winter athletics was that the bas-

Carving Competition To Highlight Festivities At Thanksgiving Dinner

Tuesday evening, November 26, the student body will gather in the Dining Hall for the annual Thanksgiving Banquet.

On this last night before Thanksgiving vacation the Dining Hall will assume a festive appearance as tables are decorated with white tablecloths and a centerpiece filled with candy and fruit and topped with a candle for use when the lights are dimmed.

After the students enjoy a fancy fruit cup, traditional Thanksgiving dishes will be served, including, of course, a plump, golden-brown turkey.

Carving Contest Will Be Held

A highlight of the evening will occur after the table masters carve their turkeys and the birds are entered in the carving contest. Mr. Poland, head judge of the contest, has already begun to make preparations for the big night.

Prizes are awarded by Mr. Poland and Mr. Corkum, assistant judge, only after they make a careful study of the various carcasses. They carry out the study by means of an expedition through the Dining Hall equipped with a hand lens and flashlight, essential for a fair estimation of the carving in the dimmed light.

Last year Mr. DalNegro, now in graduate school, carried away the "Golden Goose" by winning top honors in the contest. He broke Mr. Hindle's two-year winning streak. Mr. Hanlon, who was not so lucky, was awarded the "Dirty Duck."

Public Figures Will Convene Here For December Political Symposium

Students Will Question Panelists Of The "Deerfield Family" On Current Politics

by Ben McNitt

The Deerfield Public Affairs Symposium, which will bring together members of the "Deerfield family" who are in the government, will be held on campus, December 13 and 14. Twenty-five alumni and friends of the school will participate in four panel discussions pertinent to contemporary government.

Mr. Robert Crow, general chairman and organizer of the Symposium, will be aided by the Messrs. Harwell and Morsman.

The Symposium will be initiated Friday evening with a welcoming speech by the Headmaster. Governor John Chaffee '40 of Rhode Island will then deliver the keynote address. Reporting the two-day affair will be representatives of the New York Times, the National Broadcasting Company, and the Associated Press.

Students Will Participate

Proceedings for all four discussions will be the same. Each member of the panel will open with a brief statement concerning the topic, and then questions from the student body will be directed at the panel. Government students will act as escorts for the visitors and will be given ample opportunity to increase their knowledge of politics. Mr. Crow commented, "An important purpose of the Symposium is to interest the Deerfield student body in devoting either all or at least part of their lives to public service."

Numerous Alumni Participate

Participating in the panel discussion on "The future of the states in the Federal system" will be moderator Richard C. Van Dusen, class of '43, legal advisor to Michigan's Governor George Romney; Governor John Chaffee, class of '40, from Rhode Island; Winston Healy '25, representative in the Massachusetts legislature; Richard A. Hunter '40, chairman of the Berkshire County Republican committee; James R. Nolen, Jr. '40, from the New Hampshire House of Representatives; and David F. (Continued on Page 8)

Mrs. Homer Smith To Leave Academy

Shortly the Academy Admissions Office will lose the able services of its head secretary, Mrs. Homer Smith. The former Miss Helene Herzig, Mrs. Smith has resigned from her post in the Admissions Office after having served there for the past seven years.

Mrs. Smith, a graduate of Arms Academy and Northampton Commercial College, has been working in the Admissions office since she came to Deerfield from the Millers Falls Tool Company in 1956. In addition to her services at the Academy, Mrs. Smith works with a youth group in her former home, Colrain, Massachusetts.

Mrs. Ann Sennett Arrives

The position vacated by Mrs. Smith will be filled by Mrs. Ann Sennett. Having attended Smith College and Northampton Commercial College, Mrs. Sennett is well-qualified for the position. A former resident of Turners Falls, Massachusetts, Mrs. Sennett has returned to this area from Albany, New York, where she was employed as a secretary for eight years. Her experience includes seven years at the Travelers Insurance Co. and a year with the Albany Medical Company.

Influence For Character

Deerfield does not pride itself upon the number and variety of courses offered; it cannot boast of presenting a choice of 10 or 12 languages or six or seven sciences. Even if the Academy had such an extensive range of studies, its curriculum would not have been responsible for inciting one college admissions officer to say that, given two boys with equal records, one from Deerfield and one from a prep school of comparable size, he would select the Deerfield student because of his characteristic poise and bearing. These intangible qualities which the admissions officer admired are the result not of careful classroom instruction, but of a much more subtle influence involving leadership, tradition, and innovation.

Of the three, an example of innovation occurred Monday, November 11, when the senior class attended a memorial service for a Deerfield alumnus of whom they had never heard. The person concerned was not a trustee, a former faculty member, or a well-known public figure; he was merely a student who had graduated in 1934 and wanted to be buried near the school. Upon receiving the request to attend, a few seniors wondered what significance the presence of 166 strange students would have had and would have for the deceased and his family. Yet no one sat through the brief 20-minute service who did not realize that his attendance had meant and did mean very much to them, however else it might have seemed in contemplation beforehand. Even the rendition of "The Deerfield Evensong" by the Glee Club had the effect for which its authors composed it.

A half hour after the service most students who had attended forgot the occasion and transferred their thoughts to subjects more closely related to themselves. The memory faded away altogether, more pleasant associations replacing it. Yet somewhere in the subconscious of many individuals the brief episode lodged itself, someday to join with other experiences of Deerfield and college education in governing an important action or emotion.

Movies

November 23 — "To Kill A Mockingbird"

This absorbing drama, adapted from Harper Lee's Pulitzer Prize novel, concerns events in a small Southern town during one turbulent year. Seen through the eyes of two young children, this Universal-International movie is mixed with nostalgia, humor, and melodrama. Delicately written and superbly acted, it stars Gregory Peck, Mary Badham, Phillip Alford, and Brock Peters.

November 26 — "Love Is A Ball"

This is a familiar, romantic yarn about an heiress and a gang of fortune hunters who try to marry her. It is enlivened by occasional comedy, beautiful color filming on the French Riviera, and good performances by Charles Boyer, Telly Savalas, Glenn Ford, Hope Lange, and Ricardo Montalban.

December 7 — "The Thrill of It All"

Doris Day and James Garner star in this occasionally amusing, but rather thin, contrived comedy produced by Universal. The plot involves a doctor's wife who becomes a TV soap commercial star, nearly breaking apart her hitherto happy home. It is enjoyable, but to a limited degree. Edward Andrews, Elliot Reid and Arlene Francis also perform.

The Roaring Cerf

A Crack In The Liberty Bell

by Jonathan Cerf

It was 9:30 p.m., the end of evening study hall. Sigmund Kaufman wedged a finger in each ear to avoid being deafened by the ringing of the signal bell. It was 9:30, but amazingly, no ear-splitting jangling pervaded the air.

Concluding that Mumbles Christopher and his monkey wrench were responsible for his deliverance, Sigmund Kaufman shuffled downstairs to thank him. "Indisputably," he began, "congratulations are in order." Mumbles chortled quietly in acknowledgment.

"Although the bell can be repaired," Sigmund Kaufman continued, "you have at least displayed imagination in formulating an opinion and in following that dream." Unquestionably, whereas to the Egor Housels of the world, 'life is just a bowl of cherries,' to you it is an ever-changing and challenging, unchaotic charade composed of intricately intermingled, inherent, but not inalienable intangibles, which, when evaluated and correspondingly adjusted, can produce human satisfaction. Yours is a symbolic, intrinsically self-abortive, consciously futile, philosophical protest against the unconsciously paradoxical reasoning that has determined the bell-enforced regimentation of our wakeful hours; it is a protest against that argument which preserves the bells as necessary, functional, and indispensable implements of discipline not only when we succumb to their appeal, but also when, by disregarding them, we display 'irresponsibility.' Your methods portend a spirited, universal upheaval, a rejuvenation of hope in a fruitless struggle against the inexorable forces of authority, against the adherents of uninterrupted, physical and mental organization, those leaders infatuated with buzzers, bells, and other noisemakers as a means of achieving a measure of uniformity — conformity. Quite obviously, although you are aware that in rebelling by de-belling the bell, you are only necessitating the re-belling of the bell, you fully understand that the nightly expenditure of electricity wasted on vibrant reminders might well be eliminated and replaced by the adoption of a collective alarm clock system for morning use only. For your clairvoyance and spirit, you are to be commended, and accordingly, in behalf of the student body, thanks a lot."

Not Just Preparation

With the increasing importance of the colleges in our society today, the word "prep school" has become somewhat limited in meaning. A prep school is commonly supposed to be an institution that demands four years of a boy's life and will in return place him in a college. This idea is false but is subscribed to by many parents and even by some boys now in school.

Prep schools are not just factories producing a certain number of college freshmen every year. They do not simply provide an intermission to ready the student for "life". They give an experience that should help in the future, but should not be sacrificed to it.

Everyone begins building character and knowledge before his first birthday. This is a process that has gone on in any person as long as he has been alive. Because it is more concentrated in the prep school does not mean that the other aspects of living should not be enjoyed also. By his fourteenth birthday any person is already well into life and should not waste time "preparing" for what he is already deeply involved in.

"But I'm studying to make some contribution to mankind in my life-time," the student says. All right, fine, but there is no law stating that contributions can be made only after the age of twenty-four. There is plenty that can be done even while one is still a student.

The school can benefit from a strong school spirit and a good representation elsewhere. Friends benefit from loyalty. And the student himself can benefit most from studying to learn, not merely to enter college.

Most important, however, is that the years at prep school are not wasted. They are formative years and can be greatly rewarding if something of value is accomplished. But no matter what is done, they will be worthless if they are spent in waiting for the college years to come along.

Faculty Outlook: Mr. Lee

A Foreign Policy For The Democrats In '64

I consider myself an Independent voter. As such, I have found it valuable in each election year to draw up a positive program which I would like to see adopted — rather than react negatively to the leadership of the "ins" or "outs". With regard to our foreign policy, I would like to suggest the following proposals and guide lines. I suspect that they might stand a better chance of support by the Democrats than by the Republicans in the next four years.

Time is on our side in the Cold War, but the handling of foreign affairs calls for the utmost in international responsibility, cooperation and restraint in the face of revolutionary nationalism.

Mr. Day Lee

Toward Atlantic Confederation

I am convinced that the federative concept, exemplified by the United Nations, the Alliance for Progress, and the Common Market, provides the only acceptable answer to the costly lessons on nationalism and its inverse, isolation. The United States must be a partner in strengthening these organizations — not a Big Brother. Such international concerts, however, should be merely a beginning. In the next four years I would like to see the United States (1) use its persuasion to further the political federation of Europe which is implicit in the Council of Ministers and the European Economic Community, and (2) initiate the wider concept of an Atlantic Confederation which in time would bind together economically and politically Europe, the American states, and the Commonwealth countries.

The Investment Of Foreign Aid

Our long-term commitments as an internationally responsible power will necessitate military and financial assistance to countries struggling for survival and independence for many years to come. We can learn how to administer our foreign assistance better, we can teach others to assist themselves through technical assistance, but we cannot allow economic and political deterioration to create vacuums. We can even profit by assisting countries of different ideologies which wish to be independent of Moscow or Peking. But we cannot afford to lose international confidence by allowing foreign aid to become a political football or economic blackmail.

At present foreign economic assistance is a fraction of military assistance; these should be brought more closely into line. Furthermore, the next administration should seek ways to entice timid, national-minded United States capital to venture abroad. This might be encouraged and our governmental commitments checked, while providing underdeveloped countries with long term capital, by the formation of an "International Public Investment Fund," guaranteed by the government and administered in conjunction with our foreign aid program.

Faculty Assume Role Of Students In Mr. Hirth's New German Class

In addition to his four other classes, Mr. Hirth has now started a German class for faculty. Once a week at seven o'clock in the evening a group of ten faculty, wives and staff gather in Mr. Hirth's classroom for two and a half hours of instruction in the first year of the German language. Those attending are Mrs. John Boyden, Mr. and Mrs. Roland Cook, Miss Amanda DeLap, Mr. and Mrs. Moreau Hunt, Mr. and Mrs. Day Lee, Mrs. John Suito, and the Reverend and Mrs. Charles Titsworth.

Teachers Become Students

The class is a semi-serious academic adventure with the purpose of reintroducing the faculty to the role of the student. These periods afford stiff intellectual discipline so that the participants will appreciate their lives outside the classroom. The class is a renewal of their acquaintance with the experience of crowding an academic effort into a limited space of time.

These classes grew out of an idea of Mrs. Cook's to learn German before she goes to visit her son in Frankfurt next summer. Mr. Miller intends to give a number of lectures to this class on the origins and history of the German state.

Mr. Hirth teaches by combining the "direct" and "indirect" method (i.e. conversation in German complementing the principles of grammar). Although he says, "Our only enemy is lack of time," Mr. Hirth finds time enough in class to indulge in his "academic vice" of explaining the etymology of a word, since German words are very similar to those of English.

Grammar Needs Improvement

Occasionally Mr. Hunt emits some cogent phrase which incites Mr. Cook to accuse him of having had past experience with German, but Mr. Hunt denies the accusation. Miss DeLap's grammar needs slight improvement but her Scottish brogue does not appear in German.

Values Of The Deerfield Community

Social Center: Frary House

by Terry Barnard

Among the examples of colonial architecture which Old Deerfield is so well known for, Frary House stands out as one of the most authentic and interesting. The oldest building in Franklin County, constructed in 1685, it has been a center of community life for almost 300 years. Now under the care of the Pocumtuck Valley Memorial Association, it is kept as a museum preserving the atmosphere of both the social and domestic lives of the early settlers.

The original house, built by Samson Frary, was dominated by its massive brick and flagstone chimney, and had a frame of rough, axe-hewn oak timbers and wide clapboards fastened with hand-made, wrought-iron nails.

Due to Frary's death in the 1704 Indian raid, the house changed hands several times but kept its character as a family residence until its acquisition by Salah Barnard in 1763. Barnard built the rear addition which housed a combination tavern and store downstairs and a large ballroom, complete with a balcony for a fiddler, upstairs. These new rooms changed the nature of the building completely, making it a center of both everyday and formal social life as well as a dwelling place. In fact, the first meeting of the Deerfield Academy trustees in 1797, as well as classes, meetings, dances and dissertations, all were held in this center of civic activity.

By 1890 the old section, built by Frary, was almost in ruins. Miss Alice Baker, seventh in line of descent from Samson Frary, discovered the plight of the house. In spite of its delapidation she recognized the building's inherent value, and, buying the building, she directed repairs and duplicated the building's appearance in the time of the tavern addition, adding a great many early period interior furnishings.

The restored Frary House again became a center of village social life until after Miss Baker's death, when it was put in the care of the Association. Since then its redecoration and the refurbishing of the tavern and living room with colonial furniture have served to greatly increase its value as an example of the way of life of early Americans.

School Bell Is Silenced During Choate Weekend

Deerfield sorely missed an old friend for a few days two weeks ago, for the bell in the Main School Building had mechanical difficulties. Generations of students have set their watches by its hourly soundings, and who can be ungrateful for its warning peals 10 minutes before classes commence?

This is what happened. A plunger consisting of two copper bars and passing through two coils which are energized by a 110-volt current broke and had to be replaced. The bell was out of action during the Choate weekend. However, it was heard again the following Tuesday after being repaired by Mr. Carroll Rurak, the Academy's electrician, and several members of Mr. Padlo's maintenance crew.

Use your talents wisely.

—The Rev. Mr. Herbert Gezork

by David Moyer

The Rev. Mr. Herbert Gezork, president of the Andover-Newton Theological School in Newton Centre, Massachusetts, delivered a talk about developing one's talents, November 10. At first glance these words of Jesus appear unjust: "To everyone who has, more will be given, and he will have abundance; but from him who has not, even what he has will be taken away." However, the German-born speaker cited several pertinent examples to explain the truth of this quotation. First, living capital is important; investing money wisely is far better than hiding or hoarding it.

Develop Talents Of Knowledge

"Practice is invaluable in developing talents in any field of study," he said. The brilliant loafer should be reproved for squandering his talents. Mr. Gezork also stressed the importance of causing one's conscience to grow: the regularity with which we employ it determines its sensitivity.

Discusses Gettysburg Address

November 17, the Rev. Mr. J. Donald Johnston of the First Unitarian Church in Niagara Falls, New York, discussed Lincoln's famous Gettysburg Address, delivered just 100 years ago. The speaker compared Lincoln's terse speech with Edward Everett's long-winded discourse, emphasizing that the President accomplished as much in two minutes as the renowned orator did in two hours.

Glee Club Chooses New Double Quartet

The 1964 Deerfield Double Quartet has recently been chosen from among the members of the Glee Club. Selections were made on the basis of tone quality, musical knowledge, and congeniality — virtues considered necessary for the success of this closely-knit organization. The members are Peter Gilmore and Dave Quigley, first tenors; Bill Eddy and Bill Forbush, second tenors; Peter Gabel and Bob Turnbull, first basses; Mike Finkowski and Gib Suito, second basses. The "DQ," headed by Suito, president of the Glee Club, plans to choose a repertoire of songs which will be presented as supplementary entertainment at the Glee Club's concerts.

Eight Freshmen To Stage Play

Eight freshmen have been chosen to act in the one-act farce, Boy Meets Family. Acting in the play, which will be presented to the freshman and sophomore classes soon after the Christmas vacation, will be Chip Bradley, Bart Good- eve, John Grant, Cliff Kiracofe, Bill Miller, Bill Post, Chris Santy, and Jim Smith. The group will begin rehearsals as soon as Mr. Thomas Herlihy, the Dramatics Club director, finishes the final casting.

The play by Alan Rieser burlesques the "barbarous modern custom of having a suitor meet his fiancée's family all at once." The main character, one Lancelot Oke, is placed in such a situation. Naturally shy but well-intentioned, the young man, confused, strives to make a good impression upon his parents-in-law with the ludicrous effect that they think him quite daft.

Frary House, the oldest building in Franklin County, is now a colonial museum.

Headmaster's Day

Dictating to his secretary, Mrs. James R. Tidyman, Mr. Boyden does early-morning paper work.

Like the chief executive of any organization, Headmaster Frank L. Boyden must meet a daily schedule as active as that of anyone who works or studies under him. The student body rises for breakfast at 7:30, but by that time Mr. Boyden has already been dictating to his secretary for nearly an hour. After his breakfast he crosses Albany Road to his office in the Main School Building in time to greet students as they change classes after first period.

For the rest of the morning Mr. Boyden covers his daily agenda of interviews, business meetings, and paper work, frequently pausing to consult with students and adults who come without notice to seek his aid and advice. In the afternoon he drives down to the Lower Level to check on the athletic teams.

To close the day Mr. Boyden gathers with students for his favorite meeting at 7:10. Returning to his house, the Headmaster finishes any left-over paper work before retiring around midnight.

Guiding and counseling his students is the Headmaster's first duty.

Mr. Boyden likes nothing better than to say hello to students passing through the halls.

A lump of sugar means a moment of respite.

Two men of much past experience confer upon plans for the future.

Watching varsity football practice in the afternoon, Mr. Boyden maintains close contact with the boys.

No day is complete without the evening meeting and another of the Headmaster's favorite anecdotes.

THE DEERFIELD SCROLL

Varsity Runners Conquer Choate; Fall To Hermon

Mt. Hermon, Mass., Nov. 16—Mt. Hermon's strongest cross-country team in recent years today turned in its best performance of the season to beat a hard-running Deerfield varsity, 16-41. Although Captain Brad Johnston of Deerfield ran his own best time for the Mt. Hermon course, 14:17, he was beaten by four of the opposition's runners. Jim LeBlanc, who has been plagued by injuries all season, was second for the Green, taking seventh place with a time of 14:28.

George Bowman, who won the race for Mt. Hermon, set a new school and course record, replacing the old time of 14:04 with a blistering 13:47.8; Frank Shorter, his teammate, also broke the old record. After the meet, the Mt. Hermon coach remarked that today's race was the fastest he had ever seen on the course and that Deerfield was the only team to give his runners a true challenge this year.

Following Johnston and LeBlanc for Deerfield were Wayne Boyden, Bucky Ehrgood, Twain Woodruff, Dick Davis, and Bob Adams, in eighth, ninth, twelfth, sixteenth, and eighteenth places, respectively.

Today's loss was only the second for Coach Hunt's young harriers, Andover being the only other team to defeat the Deerfield runners.

Varsity Soccer Ends Successful Season; Loss To Choate Spoils Perfect Record

Deerfield, Mass., Nov. 13—Playing host to a rugged and determined Mt. Hermon squad, the varsity soccer team won its ninth game of the season today by a score of 2-1. With two minutes remaining in the second period, Deerfield's Mike Finkowski opened the scoring with a carefully placed kick from his half-back position. The ball then remained in the middle of the field until the fourth quarter when Mt. Hermon tallied to even the score. During a melee in front of the goal in the closing minutes, Mike Mueller nudged the ball into the nets, thereby assuring Deerfield of the victory.

Suffers First Loss

Deerfield, Mass., Nov. 9—Plagued by the inability to muster an effective attack, the varsity soccer team suffered its first loss of the season at the hands of an aggressive Choate squad today, 3-1. Except for a quick Choate goal in the first period, the teams had equal control of play during the first half. The ball continually went up and down the field, with both forward lines harassing the goalies. Late in the third period Deerfield was finally able to penetrate the strong Choate defense with a goal by Rick Sterne. However, Choate was not ready to give in, as Peter Gushell and Bob McCallum both scored within four minutes after Deerfield's tally.

Under the expert guidance of Coach Robert Merriam and David Knight, the team progressed rapidly, culminating the season with its hard-fought Mt. Hermon victory. A real fighting spirit and will to win exemplified the attitude expressed by all the boys.

Fumbling Causes Loss To Hermon Choate Single-Wing Downs Varsity

by David Higgins

Mt. Hermon, Mass., Nov. 16—Deerfield lost its final game of the season today, succumbing to Mt. Hermon 12-6. There was no score in the first period as neither team could sustain a long drive. Early in the second period, however, an 18-yard Mt. Hermon pass gave them their first score, but they failed to tally the extra points. Deerfield came back strongly, capping a series of short running plays with a scoring plunge by Jim O'Connor from the one-foot line; Charlie Brucato's conversion attempt was wide. Later in the second period Deerfield was again on the move, carrying the ball 45 yards on a run by George Hebert before a fumble ended the drive.

Mt. Hermon Scores Again

In the third quarter no one could tally as the defensemen on both teams excelled. Mt. Hermon managed to score in the fourth quarter, however, and Deerfield, although stopping the extra point attempt, could not overcome the six-point deficit. A 16-yard pass from Bob Fredo to Dave Hagerman kindled Deerfield's hopes of another tally, but Mt. Hermon managed to contain the drive during the final seconds of the game.

Ice Hockey Commences As Skating Rink Opens

The harbinger of winter is here. Deerfield's Hockey Rink opened Sunday morning, November 17, and was soon crowded by skaters.

Preparations for flooding and freezing the rink were started several weeks ago when hockey candidates spread and smoothed sand on the base of the rink. Friday, November 8, the giant compressors which activate the cooling coils were started, and water began to flow into the rink and freeze. The gradual process of flooding and freezing continued all week until the desired thickness was reached.

The rink is expected to be in constant requisition all winter long as seven hockey teams hold daily practice, numerous hockey games are played, and weekend pleasure skaters enjoy the indoor facilities.

Deerfield, Mass., Nov. 9—Deerfield suffered its second loss of the season today at the hands of a spirited Choate team, 16-0. Choate received the kick-off but had to relinquish the ball after some unsuccessful line play. Hagerman then took a pass from Fredo for seven yards, and O'Connor ran for the first down. "Heebie" Hebert followed with a run around right end for 20 yards. However, the drive could not be sustained and Deerfield had to kick. Choate then marched for their first touchdown, Bob Sokolow.

J. V. Soccer Downs Choate, Mt. Hermon

Deerfield, Mass., Nov. 13—The junior varsity soccer squad completed its season today with a decisive victory over Mt. Hermon, 5-0. They now have compiled a respectable record of four wins, two losses, and two ties. The nets were creased only once in the first half as Dave Giddings scored an unassisted goal. In the third period, as the air became crisper, the Deerfield booters became more aggressive. Early in the period Bob Leventhal crossed from his wing position and Sandy Tilney pounded it into the goal. Shortly thereafter, fullback Josh Fitzhugh launched a long kick which fell in for a goal. Tilney tallied once again in the same frame, Jack Rand assisting. The scoring was completed by Jeff Fishwick in a game which saw the Green outshoot its opponents, 20-4.

Choate Falls Victim

Deerfield, Mass., Nov. 9—While a drizzle fell, the spirits of the Choate j.v.'s were doubly dampened as they were beaten by the junior varsity, 5-3, in an encounter which saw the home team outplay its opponents throughout. Getting off to a quick start, Deerfield tallied twice in the first period. Goals were scored by Tilney and Giddings, and the Green led, 2-1, at the half. The teams exchanged goals in the third period as Giddings pounded the ball into the nets again. Bobby Ives and Tilney each scored in the last frame.

View Of A Varsity Coach

Mr. Hunt Of Cross-Country

by Neal Garonzik

Cross-country demands much of its participants. Perseverance, a keen desire for self-improvement, and patience are essential for the success of any long-distance runner.

Mr. Hunt watches team's progress

ner. As Deerfield's varsity cross-country coach, Mr. Moreau Hunt strives to nurture these qualities, hoping to produce results which will be satisfying to the team, to the runner, and to the school.

Stresses Individual Effort

Mr. Hunt feels that "cross-country gives the participant a unique chance for development and progress." He believes that "improvement in a running time may serve as a yardstick by which the student may measure his own growth. "To the cross-country runner," Mr. Hunt says, "the victory is reason for satisfaction and a feeling of personal accomplishment coming from a lot of hard work and devotion."

This is not to detract from the emphasis Mr. Hunt lays upon group effort. He constantly advises his runners to combine both team and individual attitudes — to run for themselves while competing for their team.

Cites Advantages

Mr. Hunt feels that cross-country is as rewarding to the less capable runner as it is to the more agile participant. "This," he says, "is the most desirable aspect of the sport."

Even with the importance of individual effort and team participation, Mr. Hunt still plays a significant role in the success of his team. While teaching the participant to take the utmost advantage of his ability, he must coordinate the efforts of his runners and show them how to achieve winning times. The result of Mr. Hunt's coaching, together with the attitude of the boys, is reflected in the records of Deerfield cross-country teams which have constantly won meets in which desire and proper guidance have been the determining factors.

Like other Deerfield coaches, Mr. Hunt is active in the classroom as a teacher of English II and English IV. He is also enrolled as a student in Mr. Hirth's recently-organized German class. Mr. and Mrs. Hunt have two daughters and a son, who is now a student at Eaglebrook School in Deerfield.

Leagues And Reserves Complete Seasons; Both Teams Compile Impressive Records

Deerfield, Mass., Nov. 15—In their final game of the season today the junior varsity reserve soccer team was held to a scoreless tie by a strong Putney varsity. The tie gave the squad an impressive record of six wins, two losses, and two ties. Having previously lost to Putney, 3-1, the reserves did a fine job in tying their opponents. Play was evenly divided, but neither team was able to muster a sustained attack.

Coach Corkum was pleased with the progress of his squad over the year. He feels that many of his players will be strong candidates for next year's varsity.

Bristol, Conn., Nov. 13—The reserves succumbed to an improved Laurel Crest varsity by a score of 1-0. In their second game of the season they had tied Laurel Crest, 1-1, at home; however, due to the loss of several first-string players to the j.v.'s, the reserves were not strong enough to win this afternoon.

Leagues Defeat Williston

Easthampton, Mass., Nov. 13—Ending an extremely successful season this afternoon, the league soccer team overwhelmed its Williston counterpart, 5-0. The victory gave the leagues a strong record of five wins, one loss, and one tie. High scorer Peter Abrams netted his sixth and seventh goals of the year,

Co-captains Knight and Finkowski

Finkowski, Knight Will Lead Soccer

Mike Finkowski and Dave Knight were elected co-captains of the 1964 varsity soccer team, November 14. Having served as members of this season's strong halfback line, they will have a capable nucleus of returning lettermen behind them next year.

Take Part In Many Activities

A native of South Deerfield, Massachusetts, Finkowski has played four years in the Deerfield soccer system. He also participates in many extra-curricular activities, two of which are THE SCROLL Business and Editorial Boards. A member of the Glee Club, he is also a vocalist in the Double Quartet. His winter sport is hockey, and in the spring he plays lacrosse.

Knight has been a member of the varsity soccer team for two years. Beginning the 1963 season at fullback, he finished the year at a halfback position. During the winter he participates in the junior-system basketball, and in the spring he plays baseball. Knight now makes his home in London, England.

THE SCROLL wishes, students faculty, and staff a happy Thanksgiving recess.

both on assists from Roy Hitchings in the second and third periods. Dusty Pearsall and Rollie Ives followed with unassisted goals late in the third period. To complete the scoring, Jeff Reder tallied on a pass from Pearsall in the final quarter.

Coach Morsman felt that this was the best league team that he has coached, and he cited goalie Jim Giddings as the team's outstanding player.

Alumni Hold Their Own On College Grid Teams

As Archie Roberts '61 continues to make headlines at Columbia, many other alumni have also done well in college football this fall. Terry Mooney '62 has gone on from Deerfield to star on the Holy Cross Crusaders, and Phil Parthmore '61 has done the same on the Lehigh team. While Chris Rudd '62 and David Sullivan '61 have shown themselves invaluable aids to Tufts, Bill Sholly '61 is still making important tackles for the Bucknell team.

Bob Tedoldi '60 at the University of Massachusetts has succeeded in making the All-East team. Deerfield teammates John Walsh '61, now on the Boston College Tarriers, and Pete Woerner '61, now fighting for Eli, have both carried on as well as they did at Deerfield. In freshman football it is impossible to leave out the work of Bruce Burton '63 at Bowdoin, along with Bob Macleod '63 and Pete Nistad '63 on the Dartmouth Indians.

Junior Football Closes Successful Season; Fresh-Sophs End Schedule With Williston

Mt. Hermon, Mass., Nov. 13—The junior football team ended their season today, losing to a powerful Mt. Hermon squad, 18-0. Loose ball handling kept the team from penetrating beyond the Hermon 30-yard line.

Deerfield, Mass., Nov. 9—The juniors easily overwhelmed Choate, 30-6. In the first period Scott Ellwanger opened the scoring, John Yazwinski converting for the extra points. Fullback Blake Thurman sprinted into the end zone and then ran the conversion, giving Deerfield a 16-0 lead at the half. Ellwanger spurred the team on with his second touchdown in the third quarter. At the beginning of the last quarter, Bill Herrick passed to Doug Clapp for a touchdown and to Mickey Swain for the extra points, ending Deerfield's scoring. The only Choate tally came in the fourth quarter.

Bows To Williston

Easthampton, Mass., Nov. 6—The junior reserve squad travelled to Williston today to face a determined Williston team and lost, 20-14. Holding Deerfield scoreless through the third period, Williston was able to take the lead, 14-0. In the last quarter Herrick passed to Jerry Markowski and Clapp for the team's only touchdowns.

The juniors have compiled a season record of five wins and two losses. A good defense accounted for much of their success. Playing well for the team all season were Ned Post, Charlie Kulikowski, and Thurman.

Fresh-Sophs Defeat Eaglebrook

Deerfield, Mass., Nov. 13—A spirited freshman-sophomore team closed a five and two season at Eaglebrook today by winning, 26-6. In the

A Mount Hermon ball-carrier is stopped at the line of scrimmage in a recent j.v. game.

J. V. Harriers Fall To Two Foes; Third Squad Defeats Winchendon

Mt. Hermon, Mass., Nov. 13—In their last encounter of the year the junior varsity cross-country squad was routed by a Mt. Hermon j.v. contingent, 19-43. Dave MacCoy in second place was the first man for Deerfield to cross the finish line. Second place was a commendable achievement, considering that Mt. Hermon runners are able to practice on their grueling course the entire fall and are thus conditioned to the great strain of the long run.

Following MacCoy was Dermot Quinn, Dave Durrance, Geoff O'Connell, and Dave Van Etten in eighth, eleventh, twelfth, and thirteenth places, respectively.

Deerfield, Mass., Nov. 9—Choate's one-two finish in the junior varsity meet was decisive in their 23-33 victory. Placing first for the Green was Mike Jones in third place. The fourth, sixth, ninth, and eleventh berths were captured by Durrance, Quinn, Ted Bacon, and O'Connell, respectively.

Thirds Rout Winchendon

Mt. Hermon, Mass., Nov. 13—Unfortunately, thirds cross-country also lost to Mt. Hermon, 15-50, contributing to a clean sweep by the Red cross-country system. Gary Gordon's eighth place was the best Deerfield could attain, as Jim Hallagan followed two places behind in the tenth slot. Mt. Hermon's depth was evident in the meet since the next Deerfield men came in twenty-second out of a 33 man field.

Deerfield, Mass., Nov. 6—Bacon, Rob McKay, O'Connell, Curt Church, and Mark Wallace, placing second, third, fourth, fifth, and seventh, led the thirds to a 21-37 victory over Winchendon. Also finishing were Rod Boren, Bob Cushman, and Larry Colker in the eighth, twelfth, and thirteenth slots.

Senior Soccer Stalwarts End Undefeated Season

Easthampton, Mass., Nov. 13—Mr. Hindle's senior all-stars concluded their undefeated season this afternoon with a 5-2 victory over the Williston seniors. Peter Lieberon opened the scoring with two quick goals in the first period and assisted on a third tally by acting captain Harry McHugh. In the closing minutes of the game Keatly Stewart kicked in two more goals.

Deerfield, Mass., Nov. 9—The senior soccer team overpowered the Choate seniors this morning on a muddy field by a score of 2-0. John Mann boomed a head into the nets in the first period for the initial score, and Dave Hoof booted the final goal in the fourth period.

J. V. Gridders Defeat Choate, Hermon Squads

Deerfield, Mass., Nov. 9—The j.v. football team upset the previously undefeated Choate j.v.'s, 22-8. Quarterback Frank Knight scored the first touchdown on an end run, and late in the second quarter, Pat Gillespie ran 25 yards around right end for the second Green tally, Blair McCune scoring the extra points on a pass from Knight. The last touchdown was scored when Gillespie broke through the line on a five-yard plunge. Knight passed to McCune for the two extra points. Playing well in the line were Ed Flickinger, Bob Lyle, and Doug Mills.

Deerfield, Mass., Nov. 13—The j.v.'s completed their season with a 32-8 victory over a spirited Mt. Hermon team. Quarterback Knight scored first on a 15-yard end reverse, and a five-yard dive by Dan Wroblewski resulted in Deerfield's second touchdown. Opening the second half, Gillespie ran 90 yards along the sideline for his tenth touchdown of the season. Playing in his first junior varsity game, Rich Ince caught a pass from Knight and raced 40 yards to the five-yard line. Wroblewski carried the ball over from there to give Deerfield its fourth touchdown, and Charlie Brucato kicked for the extra point. A 40-yard pass from Brucato to Greg Smith completed the scoring late in the fourth quarter as Brucato again kicked the extra point. The offensive standout today was Rich Ince, with five receptions.

ski scoring. The pass for the extra points was successful, and Choate took an 8-0 lead. Early in the second period Choate again scored on a 49-yard run by Sokolowski and also gained the extra points. In the waning minutes of the second period, Deerfield was in scoring position after John McNamara ran a pass from Fredo to the 19-yard line. Unfortunately, the half ended before they could tally.

Defense Strong In Second Half

Choate again threatened in the third period, but fine defensive play forced them to punt. Then carries by McNamara, O'Connor and Hebert advanced the ball to the Choate 19-yard line. The fourth down pass was intercepted and Choate took over. Later Deerfield started another drive but the Choate defense proved too much and halted the drive.

Junior Soccer Teams End Season; Win Seven Of Last Nine Games

Deerfield, Mass., Nov. 15—Taking advantage of a Putney j.v. team which had just bicycled some distance, the junior "A" squad jumped off to a fast start and defeated the Putney team, 3-0. In the hard-fought game Jamie Johnston, center forward, started the scoring by netting a good pass from center half Jeff Becton. Then Charlie Schoneau, right wing, followed suit and contributed to the cause with two goals on passes from Chuck Severance.

Mt. Hermon, Mass., Nov. 13—Following a week of no practice because of rain, junior "A" lost to Mt. Hermon, 3-0. In a game in which Mt. Hermon controlled play, the Green had several opportunities but never capitalized on them. Junior "A" made several fatal mistakes, which Mt. Hermon turned into goals. Outstanding for Deerfield all day was Jimmy Jolis at left fullback.

Junior "B" Ends Season

Deerfield, Mass., Nov. 13—Today junior "B" found cold weather and a Mt. Hermon team too much for them, and lost, 5-1. Mt. Hermon, taking advantage of several penalties and a few serious defensive mistakes, took the lead quickly and maintained it. The lone bright spot in the afternoon came in the second period when Bink Garrison took a cross from John Rent and scored.

Junior "C" Takes Two

Deerfield, Mass., Nov. 13—Junior "C" defeated the Greenfield High School soccer team, 3-0, in a contest that was closer than the score indicates. Scoring for Deerfield were Bill Edwards, Nick Heath, and Steve Schackne. Mike Baker played a good game at left halfback.

Deerfield, Mass., Nov. 6—Facing cold, rainy weather and a strong Williston contingent, the junior "C" squad scored one goal to their opponent's none. A close game, the contest was scoreless until the waning minutes of the fourth period when Marty Cary at right inside took a pass and scored.

ed to Williston and ended their season with a close 1-0 victory. With 15 seconds left in overtime Reed Goossen scored the lone goal.

Teri Towe's Toe Totals Two

Deerfield, Mass., Nov. 13—Junior "E" soccer today overcame the cold and edged an Eaglebrook team, 2-1. The Green started off weakly and could not get into the scoring column until the fourth period when C.Q. Wong started the scoring for Deerfield. Teri Towe then netted the second one, putting his team ahead to stay.

Deerfield, Mass., Nov. 9—Turning in one of its best performances to date, the cross-country team today overcame a weak Choate rival, 19-44. Brad Johnston won the race with his best time of the year, 13:05, leading Frederick of Choate by 10 seconds. Deerfield-Andover Trophy Returns; History Symbolizes Lasting Amity

As a result of this year's football victory over Andover, the Deerfield-Andover trophy is back on campus. This ingenious contrivance consists of two felt penants, one green with a white "D" and the other blue with a white "A", stitched to a physics lab weight of 50 grams; it is not over three inches in height or width. A glimpse at the award's history, however, will demonstrate its symbolism.

Seven years ago there befell the first football tournament between Deerfield and Andover, won by Deerfield. After the game the admissions men from both schools, among whom existed a most cordial friendship, gathered and talked. Representing Deerfield were the Messrs. Prentice Horn (who has been followed by Mr. Richard Wheeler, then Mr. Robert Harwell) and John Boyden; for Andover were the Messrs. Robert Sides, who has remained as director, and Joshua Miner, now with the Outward Bound organization.

Mr. Miner Produces Trophy

During the course of the conversation Mr. Miner produced what is now recognized as the trophy and suggested that it represent a token of good-will, travelling between the two schools and resting with the year's victor at the annual football game.

The directors heartily agreed, and the custom survives. For the past five years Andover has kept the award, but it has now returned to Mr. John Boyden's office, a tribute to Deerfield's successful effort this fall.

Mr. Boyden outlined the significance of this award, stressing the fact that it represents more than just athletic competition.

FACULTY OUTLOOK—

Toward Military Reduction

Emphasis on the military is having a corrosive effect not only on policy-making and government administration, but also on the American economy and society. The Test Ban Treaty notwithstanding, however, relaxation of this military stance cannot take place until the unsettled political, economic and geographic differences of World War II are adjusted. This will require time, restraint and compromise on both sides, but it is possible if all avenues of international interchange are kept open. Threats of "massive retaliation" or "wars of our own choosing" are dead-end policies.

I do believe, however, that the role of the United States as the bastion of defense can be relaxed by allowing NATO powers to become equal partners in a real sense. In order to create such an atmosphere, the United States will undoubtedly have to relinquish its nuclear veto power, and the intentions of de Gaulist nationalism to create a "third force" will have to be considerably modified.

Open-Ended Diplomacy

Open-ended societies such as ours must pursue open-ended diplomacy; only in this way is time on our side.

Mrs. Clark Takes Trip; Sees Los Angeles Area

Mrs. Hazel K. Clark, manager of the Alumni Office, and her husband, Mr. Chester A. Clark, took their vacation this year in Arcadia, California, in the Los Angeles area, from October 11 to October 29. Mrs. Clark reports that while staying in Arcadia with her son, John Clark '46, and his family, she "did most things everybody does when visiting in California." When the two families went to see the Lawrence Welk show, they happened to be selected as part of the group that went on television to dance.

During her stay, Mrs. Clark traveled from Arcadia to Santa Barbara to see her friend, Miss Ann Finberg, who formerly worked at Deerfield as the Headmaster's secretary and later as assistant treasurer. Miss Finberg now works at the Cate School in Santa Barbara, which was started by the brother of Mr. Phillip T. Cate of Deerfield.

Choate Chess Club Outplays Deerfield, Wins Annual Match

Eleven members of the Deerfield Chess Club were challenged by their Choate counterparts in a seven-hour match, Saturday, November 9. In the morning the squad from Deerfield skillfully dueled the chessmen from Wallingford, but due perhaps to the former's anxiety about how the other sports were faring, the Choate players edged ahead, 7-3.

The Green eleven consisting of President Andy Saxon, Vice-President Mark Wallace, Jim Averill, Brad Barton, Jeff Bean, Jon Bernstein, Jon Cerf, Larry Colker, Bob Hoffman, Bruce Hoof, and Dan Ziskind, resumed the bout after a disheartening football game. The group was again overpowered, and at the close of the meet Deerfield had tallied 4½, Choate 13½. Though the Deerfield club made no excuses, many onlookers felt that the team was discouraged by the fact that time only allowed 18 contests, instead of the anticipated 22.

Club Joins Chess League

Undaunted by the destruction of their hopes for a perfect record, the club looks forward to several interscholastic matches and especially to the 13-school Northeastern Chess Tournament, the first in which Deerfield has participated.
